

St. Luke's Leeds Anglican Church and AOG Gallery invite you to a special event for

National Day of Awareness for Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls and Two-Spirit People

Sunday May 5th
AOG Gallery - 47 Leacock Road, Frankville

- 1:00PM - Anglican Gathering Worship
- 1:30PM - Welcome and Introduction to AOG Gallery
- 1:45PM - Indigenous Healer Rosemary Bush:
Demonstration about nature's healing
- 2:15PM - Free time exploring AOG Gallery
- 3:00PM - Closing Ceremony

You are welcome to come for all or any part of this event

Red Dress Day was inspired by Métis artist Jaime Black's REDress Project installation, in which she hung empty, red dresses to represent the missing and murdered women. Red dresses have become symbolic of the crisis as a result of her installation.

Before or after this event, we encourage you to consider exploring AOG Art Trail: Walk a 2 km trail through open fields, maple forest and pine plantation with art, including installations relating to the day's theme, to see along the way. The art trail starts at 42 Leacock Rd, Frankville.

A private collection of contemporary art, including significant pieces by Indigenous Artists on 'Red Dress Day' and other Truth and Reconciliation themes.
